We live in an extraordinary moment on Earth. As we witness unprecedented destruction of ecological, biological and social systems, we can feel overwhelmed by anger, fear and other difficult emotions. How can we remain resilient, creative and empowered to act for the healing of our irreplaceable world?

Active Hope is a workshop series based on the teachings of eco-philosopher Joanna Macy about finding and offering our best response to the social and ecological challenges before us. Come learn ways to face these challenges, build community and help build a life-sustaining society.

What to expect from the workshop?

- Practices in love and gratitude
- Acknowledgement of our pain for the world
- Sources of hope and insight
- Commitment to change, healing and action
- Tools to take into your life

Who's the workshop for?

Anyone who is looking to re-ignite a sense of hope, care, passion and purpose to be able to respond to issues of concern in our community and planet.

Presenter Rev. Alison Cornish is the Executive Director of Pennsylvania Interfaith Power & Light, a statewide organization that supports congregations and individuals to respond to climate change.
